According to preliminary data compiled by the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Fund (NLEOMF), as of December 31, 2021, 458 federal, state, tribal and local law enforcement officers died in the line-of-duty in 2021. This is an increase of 55% from the 295 officers killed during the same period last year, and is the highest total line-of-duty officer deaths since 1930 when there were 312 fatalities.

This year’s statistics demonstrate that America’s front-line law enforcement officers continue to battle the deadly effects of the Covid-19 pandemic nationwide. Preliminary data shows that some 301 officer fatalities have been identified as caused by Covid this year, and this number appears to increase almost daily. Covid-19 related fatalities continue to be the single highest cause of law enforcement deaths occurring in 2021.

The dramatic increase in traffic-related fatalities in 2021 is also cause for concern for law enforcement agencies nationwide. In 2021, 58 officers died due to traffic-related causes, such as single-vehicle crashes, vehicle collisions, motorcycle crashes and “struck-by” incidents, while working along our nation’s roadways. These 58 traffic-related fatalities are an increase of 38% compared to the 42 deaths during the same period last year. Tragically, struck-by fatalities have increased by an extraordinary 93% over last year.

In 2021, 84 officers died from felonious assaults including 61 officers who were killed by firearms, 11 officers killed in struck-by traffic incidents, and 3 killed in auto crashes where the subject was either fleeing the police or an intoxicated driver was involved. In addition, 4 officers were beaten to death, 2 died from 9/11-related illnesses, and 3 officers were stabbed. The 61 officers killed feloniously by firearms represents a 36% increase over the 45 officers killed feloniously by firearms in 2020.

The leading circumstance of firearms fatalities were officers killed in ambush-style attacks. A total of 19 officers were killed in ambush attacks in 2021, a significant increase over only 6 such attacks in 2020.
The data and statistics contained in this report are preliminary and do not represent a final or complete list of individual officers who will be added to the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial in 2022.
Of the 458 preliminary law enforcement line-of-duty deaths this year, firearms-related fatalities are the second leading cause of law enforcement deaths. These deaths represent a 38% increase over the same period last year.

Of the 62 firearms fatalities, 19 were ambushed and killed, 8 were investigating suspicious activities or persons, 7 were attempting an arrest, 7 were killed responding to domestic disturbance calls, which led to a tactical situation and an ambush, 7 disturbance calls, which led to a tactical situation, 3 were killed during traffic enforcement, which led to an ambush, 3 were fatally shot responding to burglary or robbery in-progress calls, 3 involved drug-related investigations, 2 were killed during tactical encounters, 2 were inadvertently and accidentally shot and killed, and 1 was killed during an encounter with a suicidal subject.

Handguns were the leading type of firearm used in fatal shootings of law enforcement officers in 2021. Of the 62 officer fatalities, 32 were killed with a handgun, 8 were killed by a rifle, 4 were killed with shotguns, and 1 was killed by the officer’s own weapon. The type of firearm used in the remaining 17 fatalities is still under investigation or unknown at this time.

Of the 62 firearms-related fatalities, 8 occurred in the month of October making it the deadliest month for law enforcement in 2021. There were 7 firearms-related fatalities in each of the months of May and July, 6 each in February, August, and November, and 5 in March. There were 4 firearms-related fatalities each in the months of January, April, and September, 3 in December, and there were 2 firearms fatalities in the month of June 2021.

*Average gunfire fatalities per decade
There were 58 officers killed in traffic-related incidents in 2021, compared to 42 during the same period last year—a 38% increase. Of the 58 traffic-related fatalities, 19 were automobile crashes involving a collision with another vehicle or fixed object, 9 were single-vehicle crashes, and 27 were struck-by fatalities. This year, 3 officers have been killed in motorcycle crashes, which is the same number of motorcycle crashes as in 2020.

Of particular concern for law enforcement is the sharp increase in struck-by incidents, where an officer was hit by a vehicle while outside of their patrol vehicle. In 2021, this was the leading circumstance for traffic-related officer fatalities. Many of these fatal struck-by crashes occurred while officers were investigating motor vehicle crashes or assisting motorists on the side of the road. Struck-by fatalities represent an increase of 93% over this time last year.

Compared to the average number of traffic-related fatalities per decade, 2021 is significantly higher than the past 10-year average (2010 – 2019).

There are 338 officers included in the Other category, including Covid-19, which is discussed in detail in this report.

In 2021, the largest sub-section of the Other category is Covid-19-related fatalities, as 301 officers have succumbed to the virus so far this year. It has been reported to NLEOMF that these officers have died due to direct exposure to the virus during the commission of their official duties.

Preliminary data reveals that 338 officers died of other causes in 2021, compared to 208 line-of-duty fatalities in this category last year during this same period. This represents a 63% increase in fatalities in the “Other” category over 2020. Of the 458 confirmed law enforcement line-of-duty deaths from January 1, 2021 – December 31, 2021, Covid-19-related fatalities are the leading cause of law enforcement deaths.

Preliminary reports submitted to the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Fund demonstrate that the ongoing Covid-19 pandemic has claimed more law enforcement lives than any single category in this report.

To date, 301 Covid-19-related fatalities have been identified by NLEOMF and/or reported by departments, and it is anticipated that a significant number have yet to be reported by agencies. To properly identify these cases, NLEOMF and its Covid-19 Task Force is working with federal, state, tribal and local agencies to determine whether officers experienced direct exposure to individuals with Covid-19 while they were performing in their official law enforcement capacity. There are cases where it cannot be determined whether there was direct contact with a Covid-positive individual while performing in their official capacity; therefore, a determination needs to be made whether it is more likely than not that the officer contracted Covid-19 during the commission of their official job duties. If officers were exposed to the virus and succumbed to its effects, they will then be included in the "Other Causes" category of line-of-duty deaths and officially counted as law enforcement fatalities.

Law enforcement officers nationwide continue to be exposed to the Covid-19 virus in the course of their daily assignments; therefore, the number of line-of-duty deaths is sadly ever-increasing.

2021 LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS FATALITIES REPORT | 13
OFFICIAL NAMES FROM JANUARY 1, 2021 – DECEMBER 31, 2021

A place of honor, the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial features the names of the Official Line-of-Duty Fallen Heroes who have made the ultimate sacrifice. Here, you may search for those who have been so honored – those whose names are engraved on the Memorial walls to be remembered and revered forever.

Since 1786, nearly 23,000 law enforcement officers have died in the line of duty. The National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial ensures that those who gave their lives to protect and serve their communities are remembered for generations to come, while providing a place where survivors can spend a quiet moment paying tribute to their loved ones.

The National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Fund, the nation’s leading organization that memorializes law enforcement heroes who die in the line of duty, offers an official monthly announcement sharing the number of fallen who have been through its stringent review process to be added to the Memorial. As of December 31, 2021, 220 law enforcement officers whose end-of-watch date was in 2021 have been given this designation of Official Line-of-Duty Fallen Heroes and will be added to the Memorial in 2022. Please note that cases are still being processed and more officers will be included in 2022. For updates, visit NLEOMF.org
