

According to the National P.O.L.I.C.E. Suicide Foundation, every 55 hours an officer dies in the line of duty but every 17 hours an officer dies by his own hand. Why? Due to the nature of the job, officers are subjected to constant stressors not common in other careers. The high stress work environment, physical and emotional strain, high incidence of substance abuse, and availability of a weapon are a deadly combination for law enforcement. This leads to burnout, low morale, trauma, depression and sometimes death. Remember, suicide is a permanent solution to a temporary problem. Problems can be worked through.
